

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Veterans Health Information Exchange (VHIE) Program is building a national network which electronically shares patient health information, allowing VA and the U.S. Department of Defense (DoD) to be interoperable with community care providers through a Joint Health Information Exchange (Joint HIE).

Benefits of the Joint HIE

- Provides VA, DoD, and community providers with a comprehensive summary of patient and Veteran health information
- Eliminates unnecessary medical tests

Documents Exchanged

- Continuity of Care Documents (CCDs) containing data like allergies, medications, problems and conditions
- Encounter Summaries containing notes relevant to specific patient encounters

How can a Community Provider begin exchanging documents with VA/DoD?

STEP 1

Become a Participant
on the eHealth
Exchange Hub

STEP 2

Complete the VA/DoD
Partner Readiness
Questionnaire

STEP 3

Complete VA/DoD testing and Production Validation

OR

STEP 1

Become a member of the CommonWell Health
Alliance (CW)

STEP 2

Contact the email below to let us know you are a CW member interested in exchange with VA & DoD